Things A Bit Different As School Year Begins

It won't exactly be business as usual, but the 6448 youngsters expected to file into Andover schools next Thursday, probably won't know the difference.

With the back-to-school bells primed to chime, the teachers still haven't signed their 1974-75 contracts, the bus drivers have a suit pending against school system bidding practices, the high school is minus an assistant principal, and there are about a dozen other vacancies still to fill.

Yet the buses will run, the teachers will be at their desks; all that's left is for the youngsters to study. If they don't do that in class, they'll get it in required homework, per the new school committee policy passed over the summer.

Classes will begin Thursday for all pupils, but the teachers report in Tuesday at 9 a.m. for a general staff meeting at West Jr. High. Meetings at the individual schools will follow.

Estimated enrollment is up about 50 from the 6397 who left the schools in June. "Rough" estimates put 3291 in grades kindergarten through 6, and 3157 in grades 7 through 12.

While there may be a slight decrease in the upper grades, there may be an increase of about 60 in grades 7 and 8. Officials declined to comment on speculation that this is due to St. Augustine School's announcement that it will close down grades 7 and 8 at the end of this new school year. Some of the youngsters may be transferring early.

One major change this year is that the pupils are being offered the option of low, medium and high-structure classroom situations. Letters have gone out from the principals to the parents explaining the changes.

Dr. Harry Westcott, associate superintendent, emphasizes that the "low, medium and high" are not related to intelligence or achievement, but structure.

The major opening still left to

14 Articles Face October Session

There will be 14 articles facing voters at the October 7 town meeting, with the interest appearing to center on a money item dealing with train service and two items relating to town bylaws.

Three private articles were submitted to Town Clerk Elden R. Salter by the warrant deadline last Friday and signatures on the petitions are being checked by the board of registrars of voters.

There were two articles rejected for lack of sufficient signatures, one dealing with acceptance of Hampton Lane, the other seeking rezoning for the Old Colony Tennis club.

The private articles include an amendment to the town bylaws to provide for a recall election, another to provide for a change in the makeup of the school committee, calling for the terms to be of two year duration and membership to be seven.

Another article calls for rezoning of acreage off South Main street for additional apartments in the Colonial Drive development.

As for the items submitted by the selectmen for the October session, the one expected to cause the most concern deals with funds to provide for the continuation of the once-a-day

Expect Manager Reappointment On Tuesday

By Robert E. Finneran
Managing Editor

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin is expected to accomplish next Tuesday night what none of his predecessors have.

He will be reappointed. The town's third manager since the inception of the new form of government in 1958 will have completed his first five year appointment in Andover on Sept. 2.

The selectmen have called a special meeting for Tuesday night with the only item on the agenda as of the moment, action on the town manager's appointment.

From all indications, Austin will remain in the top administrative position.

It is believed that the selectmen have discussed the manager's position among themselves and are agreed on Austin's reappointment.

The present five member board of selectmen has worked only with Austin and there is no indication that they are dissatisfied with his work.

Selectman George E. Heseltine is the senior member of the board in point of service, now in his fifth year, Chairman Milton Greenberg began his fourth year with re-election in March. Selectman Alan F. French is in the final year of his first three year term, Selectman Edmund Sullivan, Jr. in his second year and Mrs. Janet Lake began her duties in March.

Austin began his duties in Andover in September, 1969, after serving as executive secretary in Sharon. He had served in administrative posts in Williamstown, Mass. and Maine communities prior to that.

As the town's third manager, he succeeded Richard J. Bowen

Low Key, Low Cost Campaign Aimed At Meeting People

By Linda S. Corbett

Come Tuesday, Sept. 10th, there aren't going to be many people in town who haven't met Gerry Cohen or Phil Coppola, or both.

The two are trying to out-hoof each other from door to door, and out-phone one another, to become the Democratic nominee from the new Andover-only State Representative seat in the November general election.

Actually they represent the only contest in the Sept. 10 primary. Former Selectman Chairman Roger Collins is running unopposed in the Republican primary and John Cronin, the fourth hopeful for the legislative job, will appear automatically on the November ballot as an Independent.

The Cohen-Coppola campaigns are marked by low budgets, by their using the primary race to tell all why they think a Democrat should represent Andover now that the town has its very own representative, and by general agreement on the issues.

Coppola, 30, an Andover resident for nearly 25 years, and a June graduate of Suffolk Law School, says that in four years the House will in "all likelihood be cut, and that a Democrat from Andover "will have a much better bargaining position to help keep Andover as one district, instead of being chopped up as in the past."

"It's no longer a Republican town," he says.

Cohen, who recently passed the Massachusetts Bar, also with a degree from Suffolk, has been a member of the Democratic Town Committee for the past three years. He too feels the voters should be "concerned" with the eventual cut in the House in 1978.

"We've just broken away from Lawrence ties," he says. "If we're going to be pied again, it would make more sense to combine Andover and North Andover ... which have more in common."

It will be a "political thing" at the State House, he says.

Cohen also says he feels a Democrat could keep more pressure on the state's accountability for the "cherry sheets," to make sure that Andover is getting its fair share of state reimbursements.

Among the "local" issues both candidates frequently are asked about are transportation and county government.

"Any direction toward Mass Transit," Coppola says, "is a good one." Someday people may no be able to commute by car, he says, because of environmental considerations and fuel shortages," and we have to start thinking about better train service.

"We only have one train in and one out," he says, "and we're about to lose that."

2 Gardeners To Plan For Next Year's Crops

Undaunted by the drought that has shriveled up many of their crops, members of the Andover Garden Project are already planning for next year's planting.

One of the topics at their Sept. 8 business-cookout session, however, will be whether or not to invest in a pump to provide irrigation should nature be so cruel again next year.

Both this year's gardeners and persons who would like to reserve a plot of the Andover Conservation Commission - owned land, which adjoins Fish Brook Water Reserve off River Road, are invited to the 2 to 5 p.m. affair Sunday, Sept. 8.

Veterans will be allowed to keep the plots they worked this year for crops of potatoes, corn, tomatoes, squash, beans, and the like, according to spokesman Mrs. Rachael Garcia. Newcomers will be in line for plots others have given up, or for new land. She said the hope is to plow up new land this fall, so it will be ready for early spring planting in '75.

Those who attend are asked to bring their own grilles and food, she said, or come for just the meeting. She said that some gardeners will be displaying their crops and canning projects, as well as exchanging recipes for pickling, canning and the like.

While the early crops were outstanding, she said, more recent ones have suffered from lack of rain. While some of the 30 gardeners hand carried water to their mini-farms, she said it just wasn't enough.

waste water or sewage treatment plant. Topics to be covered include: grit removal and comminutors, sedimentation, Imhoff tanks, chlorination, activated sludge, sludge handling and disposal, and tertiary treatment.

Donald S. Pottle, who holds a B.S. in Civil Engineering and an M.S. in Sanitary Engineering from Northeastern University, and is also Associate Sanitary Engineer for the Massachusetts Division of Water Pollution Control is the instructor for the course. Mr. Pottle has taught at Lowell Technical Institute, University of Massachusetts, Merrimack College, Worcester Junior College, Northeastern University and is currently adjunct instructor at North Shore Community College.

The course will be offered on Thursday evenings from 7:15 to 10 p.m. The tuition for the course is $57 plus a $4 registration fee, and is offered for three college credits. Registration dates are Aug. 29 and Sept. 3 from 1-4 p.m. and 6-9 p.m., and Sept. 4 from 6-9 p.m.

For further information and a free copy of the Fall 1974 catalog call or write The Division of Continuing Education and Community Services at North Shore Community College, 3 Essex Street, Beverly.

Museum Closed

The Visitor Center at the Children's Museum will be closed for the entire month of September, reopening to the public Tuesday, Oct. 1, at 2 p.m. However, the Resource Center, Teacher Shop, and Recycle will be open during September, from 9 to 5 Mondays thru Fridays.

Andover firefighters were called to the scene shortly before 5 p.m. The youngsters who were playing in the area also called the department. North Andover and Tewksbury fire departments filled in at Andover stations during the general alarm blaze.

School Bus Safety Is Objective

The Massachusetts State Police, Registry of Motor Vehicles, Chiefs of Police David L. Nicoll of Andover and Joseph W. Lawlor of North Andover have announced that during the month of September their enforcement agencies will concentrate on all phases of School Bus Safety. A cooperative effort towards increased enforcement of all Laws and Regulations relating to the transportation of children in the school bus is planned.

Many complaints have been received from citizens from all areas of the Commonwealth of school bus violations, a great many of them citing the driver who fails to stop for the flashing lights of the bus.

One of the main objectives of this new program, is to bring about an awareness on the part of the motoring public (the commuter), the school bus driver, the police and the educator. An all out effort on the part of everyone concerned, can't help but bring safer school days for our children throughout the Commonwealth.

All available State Police patrols will be alerted to pay specific attention to school buses on all highways or wherever a violation may be observed.

Safety Officers Richard Aumais, Andover, and Frank Dushame, North Andover, will coordinate the effort between the different agencies.

Petition EPA For Permit

New England Power Company (NEPCO) has filed an application with the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to burn coal at Salem Harbor Station (units 1, 2 and 3) and at Brayton Point Station (units 1, 2 and 3) until June 30, 1975.

This is a new application under the coal conversion statute passed by Congress this June, the Energy Supply and Environmental Coordination Act of 1974. One section of the law allows power plants that converted or began conversion to coal between Sept. 15, 1973, and March 15, 1974, to reapply to EPA for coal burning permission. Since the Brayton and Salem units switched to coal or were working on conversion this past winter, the new law is applicable to them.

Fall Program To Begin Sept. 16

following schools: West Jr., East Jr., Shawsheen and Sanborn from 7-9 p.m. Registration forms will be accepted by mail and in person at the Recreation/Community Schools Office but they will not be counted until Thursday, Sept. 12.

CHALLENGING CHAIN. We're not sure whether the Guinness World Book of Records has an entry on gum wrapper chains, but the youngsters at the Shawsheen playground will challenge the mark. As part of their summer activity the youngsters created a 35 yard chain made entirely of folded gum wrappers. Examining the chain is Lisa Spiegel of the playground staff, with Andy Witty, Joyce Romano and Ann Jill Hopwood.

Bob Says:

Machines are on the top of our list for this week. Our incredible Minolta copymakers are selling well, and this phenomenon has generated a couple of excellent trade-ins which we are busily reconditioning for resale. Both are made by SCM and will be sold at ridiculously low prices with new machine warranties. We'll be happy to bring them out to show you in your office.

We resurrected three machines last week whose owners had been told that they couldn't be fixed. Lo and behold, they could be fixed, and are working hard for their owners. Chances are your machine can be fixed, too, if you'll only call us.

So far there haven't been any questions. We extend an honest invitation to everyone to drop us a card or letter with any questions you may have concerning copier applications, performance, problems, or whatever. We won't try to sell you anything and you don't have to live in Andover to ask us a question.

Nature Courses For Fall

Massachusetts Audubon Society's Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary is offering a number of natural history courses for adults this fall starting in September, some of which will meet at the Sanctuaries in Topsfield and Wenham and some of which will be held in other regions around the North Shore for those who are short on time or gasoline.

A new course starting on Tuesday, Sept. 10, is Shore Birds, a series of field trips to observe coastal species which are moving south at this time. Telescopes are useful and binoculars are a must for this class which will be led by Ruth Moore, Sanctuary instructor, and Sally Ingals, curator of natural history of the Peabody Museum of Salem.

On Monday, Sept. 16, the Edge of the Tide will be explored by Sarah Fraser Robbins in a combination of two lectures and three field trips to different kinds of shoreline. In addition to shore birds, participants in this course will have an opportunity to investigate many sorts of marine creatures, salt tolerant plants and the complex relationships of tidal zones on Cape Ann and Ipswich Bay.

For the frustrated gardener as well as the curious, a field course, Weeds and Wild Edibles, begins on Wednesday, Sept. 18, which will help beginners learn to identify common weedy plants and perhaps put them to use in the kitchen. In addition to Sanctuary property, the class will have an opportunity to examine a large shopping center and an area of their own choice under the guidance of Del Hood, an amateur naturalist, who has supplemented his diet by collecting wild greens, berries and nuts for many years.

Also on Wednesday, Sept. 18, Dyeing With Native Plants, a series of five workshops on vegetable dyes which can be produced from common plants will be held at the Sanctuary Barn in Topsfield. Along with basic techniques for preparing dye baths and mordants, myths, legends and historical recipes will be discussed. The delicate hues of natural dyes lend themselves particularly to crewel work and embroidery, and participants will be encouraged to experiment on their own.

Wednesday evening, Sept. 18, will see the beginning of a seven week course on Astronomy for beginners to be held at the Sanctuary Barn in Topsfield. Miriam Dickey of the Hatheway Institute of Environmental Education will guide her students through an introduction to the fall and winter skies, seasonal constellations and other phenomena which can be seen with binoculars or the naked eye. A small telescope will be available for class use.

The fall class for New Tour Guides for the Sanctuary's nature walks for school groups will begin on Thursday, Sept. 19, at Topsfield. Anyone who enjoys working with children and natural history, or thinks he would like to try, is invited to enroll in this six week training course with Annette Swain, tour coordinator, to learn the trails and interesting natural features of this Audubon Sanctuary.

At the Wenham Nature Center on Cherry Street, a new course on the Landforms of America, a survey of geology with stress on New England, will be offered starting Thursday morning, Sept. 19. For those who have wondered about the origins of the rolling hills, disappearing ponds and rocky ledges of eastern Massachusetts, Eleanor Spiller will offer some answers as well as discussing the volcanic and glacial history of the area and its common rocks and minerals.

Exploring Lynn Woods will be a series of four related nature walks through this attractive green space just outside of metropolitan Boston with its extensive variety of native flora and its unusual glacial features. With Marie Hoyt, an experienced Sanctuary teacher, and her assistants as guides, residents of this southern portion of Essex County may avail themselves of an opportunity to learn more about the Lynn Woods whose advocates have prevented the extension of Interstate 95 in an effort to save it. The first walk will be held on Thursday morning, Sept. 26.

On Friday, Sept. 27, a field course on Mushrooms will begin in the Andover region. Four weekly trips are planned for this class which will look for the numerous varieties of mushrooms that appear in the fall. Basic identification methods and the use of field guides and keys will be stressed along with tips on collecting and preparation of specimens.

An evening class on Nature Photography will be offered starting Thursday, Oct. 24, for camera enthusiasts.

Police Club Captures Title

By Rick Harrison

The fledgling Andover Recreation Summer Baseball League completed its initial season of play last week, with the Andover Police team capturing the 1974 championship on the final day.

The Police nine, after winning its first four games of the summer, led the standings virtually from the opening gun to the wire.

However, the Independents and the High School made continuous challenges for first place, and right up until the last game each of those three clubs had a chance for the title.

The Police secured the crown with a 10-3 conquest of the High School, while at the same time the Andover Alumni upset the Independents, 7-3, in closing action.

The champs thus finished the season with a 7-3-2 overall record for 16 points. The High School closed at 5-5-2 and the Independents at 4-4-4, both good enough for second place.

Police Prevail, 10-3

The High School struck for two quick runs and threatened for more against Police team winning pitcher Fred Arragg in the first inning of their 10-3 contest.

Bill Brennan led off with a walk and then Dave Mosher, who barely arrived in time for the game, belted a two-run homer for the 2-0 lead.

Steve Juba singled, Bob Wolkovich walked and the pair pulled a double steal to put runners at second and third with no outs.

Arragg bore down to escape the jam however as Pete Aumais fouled to the catcher, losing chucker Bob Hannon fanned and Mark Botsch skied to centerfield.

The Police bounced back to grab the edge for good in the second inning, exploding for a quartet of runs and a 4-2 advantage.

Mark Morreo doubled, Player-Coach Phil Cultrera was hit by a pitch and Bob Gildea walked to load the bases.

Arragg tied the game with a two-run single, and on the hit Gildea raced to third.

Biff Moriarty chased in the go-ahead run with a fielder's choice grounder that erased Arragg, but Moriarty later scored on John Brennan's crisp RBI single.

Big Fourth For Both

Both teams wrapped up their offensive production in the fourth stanza, with the High School notching one run and the Police six.

Arragg's wildness gave the High School a free run. He issued successive one-out walks to Greenlee, Bill Brennan and Mosher.

After Steve Juba fanned for the second out, Bob Wolkovich drew a fourth free pass to force home the run.

The next batter also whiffed to end the threat, however.

The Police pushed across their six runs although managing just one hit.

Walks to Keith Verrette and Phil Cultrera set things up for

THE ANDOVER POLICE baseball team pictured above recently advanced to the semifinals of the second annual Andover Invitational Baseball Tournament, which drew a strong eight-team field. The Police nine posted a fine 2-2 record in the tourney, bowing out following a tough 4-3 loss to finalist Chelmsford. A somewhat modified team, with many of the same players on it but not all of them, also won the first Andover Recreation Summer Baseball League championship. Front row (l-r): Bob Autieri, Jim Gillan, Joe Tisbert, Dave Sweetser, Tom Barenboim, Jim Haugh, Steve Tisbert and Ed Murphy. Back row (l-r): Mark Morreo, Phil Cultrera, Lazlo Kun, Fred Arragg, Bob Haugh, John Brennan, Bob Gildea, Barry Karamatopolous, Ray Flaherty and Mark Sweetser.

Bob Gildea, who rescued Verrette with a single. A walk to Arragg loaded the bases, and another free pass to Moriarty made it 6-3.

An infield error on John Brennan's grounder, and a fielder's choice bouncer by Steve Tisbert accounted for the remaining tallies.

Alumni On Top, 7-3

Winning hurler Kevin Lynch and loser Bob Autieri hooked up in a pitcher's duel for close to four innings, but a five-run outburst by the Alumni broke up the battle and ruined the Independents' title hopes.

The Independents had grabbed a 1-0 lead in the second when Autieri reached on a two-base infield error, and eventually scored after a brace of wild pitches.

The Independents collected another run in the fifth when Ed Murphy walked and raced home on Player-Coach Ray Flaherty's triple.

The final marker for the losers came in the sixth. Autieri again got to second base on an infield miscue, and he steamed home on Mal Murphy's RBI single.

But the Alumni finally solved Autieri for five big runs in the fourth.

Kevin Lynch singled and advanced to third on Jim Gillan's two-bagger. Bob Haugh ripped a two-run single, took second on a walk to Hughes and scored following a pair of wild pitches.

Hughes got to third on the wild heaves, and then Stu Malis walked and swiped second. Jim Barenboim followed with a routine grounder to shortstop, but the ball was misplayed as two more runs scored.

The Alumni garnered a pair of insurance runs in the fifth. Joe Conlon lashed a single off the pitcher's leg. Kevin Lynch blasted a double to rescue Conlon, but Lynch was nailed at third trying to stretch the hit to a triple.

Jim Gillan singled, stole second and scored the final marker as Bob Haugh's infield grounder was booted for an error.

Leaders

Keith Verrette of the Police team emerged as the leading batter in the league with an impressive .616 average.

Top pitchers were Mike DiTroia of the High School, Steve Tisbert who was an early-season relief specialist for the Police, Kevin Lynch of the Alumni and Laslo Kun of the Independents.

Kelley Comments

Ed Kelley, Andover High JV baseball coach and the founder of the Summer Rec League and its own sponsored tournament, is quite encouraged with the results.

"We began with a Police team in the Greater Lawrence Police League two years ago," explained Kelley. "It developed as a last-minute thing when some of the kids in town approached me about forming a team. These kids were in the 16-18 age bracket, too old for Babe Ruth and unable to play anywhere else in town."

"The Police League folded this year, so the Recreation League was organized with four teams and over 80 kids playing," continued Kelley.

"We've also had two successful invitational baseball tournaments in the past two years, and this season the Police team reached the semifinals before being eliminated."

"There seems to be great enthusiasm locally for the league. Many outsiders want to get in, and we look forward to a stronger league with more participants in the future," added Kelley.

"If the Police League comes back to life we hope to play two nights a week in our own league, and also place one or two teams into the G-L Police League."

"The big thing, though," concluded Kelley, "is that high school ballplayers have had a chance to play 'another season,' whereas in the past their season has ended in June when the real good baseball weather is just starting to come around."

The Andover Junior Football League is getting ready to launch its 15th season of competition for boys ages 9 to 13. Tryouts for the league will be held at the East Junior High Playstead Field on Monday thru Thursday, Sept. 9, 10, 11 and 12 at 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m.

All players must register and try out at one of these times in order to be assigned to a team. A $10 fee should accompany the application; such fee will be refunded if the boy is not selected.

The League is for boys who will have reached their ninth birthday by Sept. 1, and who will not reach their 14th birthday by Jan. 1, 1975. The boys must not weigh more than 120 pounds on the day they officially register for play unless they are 12 years or under.

In order to be eligible for the Junior Football League, they must at that time obtain a release slip from the Junior High School coach and present it to the Junior League Officials.

All coaches will be on hand at the tryouts, and the candidates will be grouped according to ability after the final session. The team draft will follow. The League will consist of six teams of 30 players each. All games are held at the Andover Playstead on Sundays beginning Sept. 29, at 12 noon for five consecutive Sundays.

Doherty's Softball Champs

Doherty Insurance edged the Embassy Lounge 5-4 and 5-3 to sweep their final playoff series and win the 1974 Andover Softball League Championship.

Doherty's Dave Murphy bested Embassy ace Bob Fanning in both contests, the first being an eleven-inning marathon. In the semi-final playoff series, Doherty's, the regular season Division "B" champs prevailed over Whitworth's, while the Embassy ousted Division "A" winners Dana's. Both preliminary series went the full three game limit with the final margin in each deciding game being one run.

Tight pitching from Tom Comparato and superb defensive play by shortstop John Recesso helped Dana's extend the Embassy in their semi-final series. Timely hitting by Ron Hajj, Jim Brent and Cal Deyermond ultimately made the difference as Embassy hurlers Fanning and Ed Seero both pitched low hit ball. Embassy won 2-1 and 3-2 in the first and third games while Dana's romped in the second contest 9-4.

Dave Murphy's pitching was the key for Doherty's in the other semi-final series as he sparkled in relief of winning pitcher John Doherty in the opening game 5-4 win and then went the route for a 4-3 win in the third and deciding game. Whitworth's took the second game 6-3 behind Marshall Petrie's gutsy pitching and clutch hitting by third baseman Craig Connolly and shortstop Dick Enos. Enos was a tower of strength at short for Whitworth's throughout the series. Doherty's catcher, Jay Lynch, clouted a two-run homer to win the first game.

In the third game, Whitworth's jumped off to a 3-0 first inning lead which Marshall Petrie made stand up until the last of the sixth when Bruce Westaway's two-run blast ignited a four run winning rally for Doherty's. The actual tying and winning runs crossed the plate on singles by Jay and Kevin Lynch and a fielder's choice by Pete Wojtkun.

The first game of the finals was a classic pitching duel between Doherty's Dave Murphy and the Embassy combination of Ed Seero and Bob Fanning. The score was deadlocked at 3-3 after two and remained that way until the top of the eleventh when Embassy rightfielder Mike Healy delivered a sacrifice fly to score Bob Driscoll with the go-ahead run.

In the bottom half of the inning Fanning started his seventh inning of relief pitching by giving up a line single to left by Pete Wojtkun and a walk to first baseman Bill Doherty. Dave Murphy then lofted a medium deep fly to Mike Healy in right and Wojtkun's thunderous slide into third after the catch and throw by Healy knocked the ball loose from the Embassy third baseman's grasp, allowing Wojtkun to score the tying run and Bill Doherty to race all the way to third. Louie Pimpare finally ended the marathon contest with a sharp single to left through a drawn-in infield. Dave Murphy went the entire route for the win scattering 11 hits.

Doherty's jumped on Bob Fanning for four runs in the top of the first inning of the season finale, three of the runs coming on centerfielder Donny Cochrane's three run homerun to over the rightfield fence. Kevin Lynch's sacrifice fly scored Paul Schaaake with a fifth and insurance run in the sixth inning. Ironman Dave Murphy made the runs stand up all night as he pitched a sharp five-hitter for the 5-3 win. Murphy surrendered a two-run triple to Cal Deyermond in the fourth and an inside the park homerun to pinchhitter Jim White in the seventh but was otherwise brilliant on the mound.

Town Meeting

Prospects of a lively town meeting in October seem dim, with only some non-monetary items creating any substantial interest.

The only monetary item which could evoke some debate, is the one dealing with the appropriation of funds for continued once-a-day train service to and from Boston.

The items, which could create sufficient interest to obtain a quorum for the Oct. 7 session lie in the change in format and number on the school committee and the amendment to the bylaws to provide for a recall election.

As for the train service, our thoughts have been presented previously and reiterated here. We are sympathetic toward the continued rail service to Boston, but can't see the town affording the luxury at the current rate.

What makes the item particularly interesting, is that it will definitely be on the town meeting floor for consideration.

In prior years, the veto power of the selectmen on money items was in effect at the October town meeting. In March of this year that power was taken away from the FinCom, thus the MBTA issue will be debatable.

There are indications that both the selectmen and FinCom will oppose the further expenditure of funds for train service, but it is assured of being placed before the forum for consideration.

As for the items dealing with the recall election and the change in school committee makeup, we rather believe consideration should be before the annual town meeting, rather than this October session.

Original intent of the October town meeting, if memory serves correctly, was to relieve the annual meeting agenda of some items, particularly zoning issues and also to consider any money items which may be of an emergency or unforeseen nature.

A change in municipal bylaws, or change in the makeup and format of the school committee hardly seems to fall in these categories.

Too, the items are of sufficient import to be given to the attention of the annual town meeting, which characteristically attracts a larger attendance.

Another Summer

It seems like only yesterday that we looked forward to those vacation days and the summer was before us.

Now, all too quickly, Labor Day is here and it's back to school time again.

Needless to say, this is the final weekend for summer recreational activity and we feel it important to issue the usual reminder about being safety minded to make the holiday weekend enjoyable.

With the holiday over, the need for safety mindedness continues as the usual back to school trek begins for thousands of young people throughout the community.

The big yellow buses will be patrolling the streets once again and their blinking lights will mean that youngsters are either going to or from classes, and on most occasions rather unmindful of traffic conditions.

Law enforcement agencies will be making an extra effort in September to be sure that proper school bus laws are adhered to, particularly as they regard motorists coming to a complete stop when the school bus is stopped and the flashing lights operating.

Motorists should also be mindful of the youngsters walking to and from schools, either in patrols or by themselves. One must always be aware that youngsters are impulsive and often errantly dash into travelled ways.

Parents should also take note of the change in youthful lifestyle with the opening of schools and remind them of their obligations to be safety conscious, either as pedestrians, bicyclists or bus pupils.

As another summer comes to a close and the school year begins anew, we think it advisable to extend a congratulatory hand to the custodial staffs of the schools.

This group has been around throughout the long, hot summer, getting the school rooms and buildings ready.

I take it he's talking about the memos on why he wasn't re-elected.

Former Assistant Supt. of Schools Edward P. Regan, left, apparently has been discussing memos regarding the reasons why he was not re-elected to that position by the school committee last spring. Responsible for Regan's ouster were Committeemen George F. Olesen, John G. Wragg and John F. Lyons. Regan has been seeking a public meeting to make known the reasons for his dismissal, and lacking the open forum, apparently has presented the memos and his view to a select few.

The custodians have had their usual two week vacation periods, of course, but pretty generally they have been hard at work with general housekeeping and repairs to the buildings.

Due to their annual, summer-long effort, teachers and students alike will be drifting back to sparkling clean classrooms next week.

We trust many a mother will be heaving a sigh of relief on Wednesday or Thursday.

Off The Top Of The Desk

Memo to the little old sign-maker at the state department of public works: The directional signs in Shawsheen Square, particularly on the Lowell street side, are badly in need of freshening up.

The sign is there, the arrow is apparent, but rust has eaten away the community to where one could reasonably be expected to be proceeding.

If pure fear could suffice for wrongdoing, then two youngsters believed responsible for setting fire to an abandoned dwelling in Ballardvale Monday afternoon, have learned their lesson well.

The youngsters playing with matches set the building ablaze and also were responsible for summoning firefighters to the scene.

As firefighters battled the blaze, the two boys huddled in the rear of an Andover police cruiser offering each other solace while awaiting judgment, were a picture of pure, unadulterated remorse - - to say nothing of fear.

Hardy congratulations to the young band of stalwarts who began twice-a-day football drills at Andover and North Andover high this week.

With the weather not really of the gridiron variety, the young men began working off some of the poundage gained through the summer weeks.

From all appearances, between the heat, humidity and calisthenics, the youthful gridders ought to be at playing weight in no time.

The summer drought has failed to turn one of summer's annual Andover delights, the appearance of morning glories at the home at the top of Chestnut street.

Having observed these bright blue flowers annually, it is pleasant to report that the current summer conditions failed to dampen the spirit of the twining blossoms on the lamp post at the residence which each year presents a floral greeting to those entering Andover off Highland road in the morning.

Women's Lib has changed a lot of things and Harold Rafton, Andover's premiere conservationist, recognized same Monday night.

The selectmen for lo these many years have been generally addressed as town fathers.

Mrs. Janet Lake now a member of the board, and the first woman to serve in that capacity in Andover, posed no problem to Mr. Rafton when he addressed the board as "town fathers and mother."

The Worcester Science Center's Alden Omnisphere has announced the opening date of its new production, "Genesis!"

Opening Wednesday, Sept. 4 for a run through the Winter, this multi-media show is narrated by Tom Ellis, the well known Boston based newsman.

According to Jackson F. Wilcox, Omnisphere director, "Genesis!" is a fresh look at the evolution of the planet earth from its beginning to the present and even beyond. Using special effects and a script based on different theories, the possible fate of Earth and the Solar System is explored during the 30-minute Omnisphere presentation.

The Omnisphere is open weekdays at 3:30 p.m. for the showing of "Genesis!" with additional showings on weekends.

Down the Years with The Townsman

75 Years Ago - August, 1899

Some 350 pleasure seekers attended the union picnic of the Andover, Tewksbury and Dracut Granges held at Bailey's Grove, Haggetts Pond Wednesday afternoon. Foot races, wheelbarrow races and some boat races were enjoyed.

The brick wall enclosing the town land on Park Street above the engine house is now completed and is part of the general yard. The addition to the engine house is being roofed this week.

David Ryley, who has been night operator at the local telephone exchange has been filling in at the Lawrence exchange this week and probably next. In his place is John Ryley, his brother.

A 25-pound snapping turtle was captured in Ballardvale by Pat Scott this week and is now in the possession of Chief Mears.

The seventh triennial gathering of the Poor-Poore family was held Sunday at South Church with 200 members present. Albert Poor of Andover was in charge of arrangements for the reunion which were presided over by General Enoch Poor.

50 Years Ago - August, 1924

The new Shawsheen school will not be ready for opening day next week. A three week strike by workmen caused the delay, although differences of opinion in the planning stage also contributed. The students will be packed into the Richardson school in the meantime.

The tax rate for the year has been set at $27.70, an increase of $3 despite the $2 million increase in valuation mostly due to the development of Shawsheen.

The selectmen have given in and permitted the state to install guide posts in town. The first to be placed is in Elm Square and is proving of considerable assistance to visiting motorists.

The Arlington Mills Band, the best in the vicinity, will be featured in the band concert Friday in The Park under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce. Tags will be sold at the event to provide funds for the fourth and final concert in September.

Kevin McGhie has made a good start on the renovation of the Hugh McGovern house on River Street in Ballardvale. Dormer windows are now in on the river side.

What Our Readers Say-

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

The opening of schools in Andover is almost upon us.

The sea of political controversy which swept our town has left many of us bewildered and confused as to what direction the education of our children is going to take.

We have lost a fine man in Ed Regan - a man who stood up for what he believed in even at the cost of his job.

What can we do? Where do we turn?

For a start GET INVOLVED! We have a very precious commodity to give of - - our time.

Volunteer at school. Any amount of time, whether it be one hour or one afternoon a week, I am sure will be greatly appreciated. This will be a good chance to gain an understanding of school programs and their success.

Go to the school committee meetings. Continue to call and write to the members of the school committee. Let them know how you feel on any and all issues which concern you.

Support the administration, staff and personnel of the schools. When you think they are doing a good job, tell them so!

It is my understanding that there will be an article on the warrant at the October town meeting to expand the school committee from five to seven members and shorten their terms from three to two years. By allowing more candidates to serve, it will help to give greater representation to the townspeople, and hopefully be a step in "binding up our wounds." I strongly urge your support of this article.

In closing I would say this. We, all the people of Andover, are paying for our schools. We have the right to be heard, so let's stand up and be counted now!

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

One fatal flaw that has dogged mankind for all of recorded history has been that of dogmatic, self-righteous certainty. A person may become so sure of the rightness of his ideas that he no longer subjects them to open questioning and re-checking. The results can be disastrous, as Napoleon discovered in Russia. On a less dramatic scale, Andover lately is often the setting for similar dogmatisms: the school committee, of a certain political persuasion, is certain that "the old ways are the best ways," and comforted by their sense of rightness, plunge ahead with policies which may leave Andover children less equipped for the adult world of tomorrow. The policies may not be disastrous also; they may even be what is needed; but we will never know on the basis of fruitful examination of different educational ideas by the Andover school committee. They have the answers already.

An equally dogmatic - - and potentially disastrous - - policy has been carried out by those who govern Andover with regard to land development. Policies have been controlled for some years now by the simplistic - - and unquestioned - - dogma that "development broadens the tax base." In the past few years this dogma has been subject to examination and found wanting. In the August 20 Boston Globe it was reported, for example, that Wayland found that development with single family homes "would, because of the drain on town services, add $7.75 to the tax rate." Wayland appropriated $3.5 million to purchase the 1250 acres in question, an action which added $4.25 to the tax rate.

But Andover goes on mindlessly, and even proudly, advertising that housing starts are still "up" in Andover while dropping in other parts of the state. Maybe other parts of the state aren't as stupid. Not only may the development be hurting Andover financially, but it is also hurting us esthetically. New zoning insists on streets so wide that they need not bow to I 93's width; streets that destroy that tree-covered quality that made Andover an attractive New England town. These roads bespeak that sun-baked arid quality of midwestern towns, hot and sere in summer, and wind-swept and bleak in winter. I'm sure that traffic moves much more expeditiously on them, and I guess for Andover, that's the governing ethic.

If the Watergate hearings established nothing else, they should have dramatized the danger that can develop when people in positions of power wall themselves off from full and open exchanges of information and ideas. I fear that we in Andover are in danger of exactly that.

Richard J. Bonier

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

As students who are directly affected by the many policies of the school committee, we are amazed at the lack of thought and clarity that is apparent in these policies.

We are still awaiting a detailed definition of "basic skills" by the school committee, or the superintendent, since he co-signed the encyclical. It occurs to us that, perhaps, since they obviously know so little about education and the real needs of students, that they intend to unload this responsibility onto our teachers, who already do not have enough classroom time for the real business of attending to the individual needs of their students.

It is a sad commentary that a group of men who purport to be conversant with the business of education, bandy about such terms as "more teacher directed classes," and "more attention to the individual needs of students." Can the school committee tell us where the teacher and the student will find the time to implement the "Home Study Policy" proposed in their "Papal Bull?"

If they took the time to analyze the practical implementation of their sweeping generalizations, we think they would find even if we grant that they do not mean to do us any harm, they do not mean to do us any good, either. We quote from the published Home Study Policy, "Homework shall be a basic part of every academic program." We agree with this statement, but we suggest that it already is a basic part of our academic program.

The school committee, and perhaps even the administration, have not taken the time to sit down with the teachers to determine the facts of the present homework situation. Until they do sit down with the teachers, who are the only ones who really know the facts, we must conclude that the school committee, and those in the administration who agree with them, know not of what they speak. We suggest that student and parent representatives be included in any evaluation of the homework program.

How can one conclude that the teachers can meet the multitudinous individual needs of students in a classroom situation when the programs in the classrooms are determined by educational novices who are not acquainted with either the programs of study, or the various needs of the students within those classrooms? We suggest that the teacher, and only the teacher in a given classroom of students, knows best the individual needs of those students.

Department Heads, in conjunction with each teacher responsible for a course of study, have detailed and placed in the files the requirements for the programs of study at Andover High School.

These programs are reviewed and modified on a periodic basis. It would seem reasonable that the school committee would need no more than request that more attention be given to any weakness they find in a program to have the problems they feel exist rectified. Does the school committee have the first-hand knowledge of the program of studies at Andover High School? If they have this knowledge, will they submit themselves to an examination of their educational erudition by a group of teachers and students? Surely this is not too much to ask of them, if they propose to intrude into the classroom, and dictate the course of study in absentia. Are the citizens of Andover going to permit such an absurd situation of educational dilettantism?

If these observations seem harsh, we submit that before any policy can be implemented, it must be examined and re-examined to make sure that the policy is of maximum benefit to those whom the policy affects. It is clear that the present

Homework Policy is neither applicable nor beneficial.

The Andover school system is full of teachers and administrators of the highest quality and dedication. We must remember that an organization functions best when each part of the organization has a delegated responsibility and function, and each segment of the organization is well-informed and accountable for its performance. And it must be remembered that the Committee is a component part within the Andover School Organization.

It is a presumption that reflects a gross defect of the intellect for a group of would-be educators to assume that they automatically become authorities in all areas of the educational process (organization) by virtue of their election to office. It would seem logical to us, that when a large and dedicated professional group of educational authorities are employed at an enormous cost to the citizens of Andover to administer and supervise the largest most important and most expensive responsibility of the town, that to reject their considered advice is certain to lower the quality of our education.

Teachers at the High School are not without guidelines for their courses. A Table of Organization, a highly capable group of educators, establish goals and objectives for each course. These guidelines, however, are flexible, and may be altered to meet an individual student's needs. For the school committee to interject themselves into determining the individual needs, without knowledge of those needs, is to circumvent the responsibility of the teacher.

The school committee has repeatedly established policies without sufficiently consulting teachers, administrators, or students. If this were done the school committee would have realized the importance of extra-curricular activities for college entrance. Unfortunately, due to the volume of homework many students can no longer participate in these.

Many important courses necessary for college entrance, have been cut for lack of teachers. Along this same line, the move to traditionalize the English courses is little more than an excuse to increase the number of students in each class, and decrease the amount of materials used in these classes, which will lessen the quality of the education.

We feel that the aforementioned mistakes can, and should be corrected, and hope that the school committee will have the courage to take the necessary steps to remedy this situation.

Banks are a necessary friend when it comes to buying a house. Few people if any, can pay full cash, so a bank mortgage is required to make up the difference. Banks, as you know, vary. Some are geared more specifically to home loans than others. In fact some were chartered specifically for this purpose by the U.S. Government. Types of mortgages vary also. In earlier days interest on the loan was the only regular payment and people prayed that they have the cash when the loan was due. Today most mortgages are selfliquidating by paying off some principal with each monthly installment.

Assistance obtaining and processing your mortgage is available through BOXTOP REALTY, Olde Andover Village. Let us provide you with knowledge and experience to insure that you receive maximum full market value for your property. Tel. 475-3984. Open 9-9. Sat. 9-5. Sun. by App't.

Mrs. Peter J. Anderson

Anderson - Prentice

Patricia Ann Prentice, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester H. Prentice of Black Mountain, N.C., became the bride August 3 of Peter Jaffrey Anderson of Andover.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin E. Anderson of 170 Chestnut Street.

The Rev. Everett Bodge of South Church and Dr. Paul M. Limbert of Black Mountain, N.C., the bride's grandfather, performed the 3:30 ceremony at South Church. Keith Gould was organist and Frank Orlando, Jr., the soloist.

A reception followed at the North Andover Country Club.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown she designed and made from eggshell parachute silk that her father had brought home from World War II for her mother, when they were married. The bodice was lace-lined, with the silk and a train of matching lace hand-stitched by the bride. She carried a bouquet of daisies and stephanotis.

Miss Barbara Young of Andover was maid of honor, wearing a floor-length gown of yellow checked gingham, with matching shawl and yellow hat. The bride's sisters, Mrs. Gail Sosnowski of East Greenwich, R.I., and Carol Prentice of Black Mountain, N.C., were bridesmaids, wearing matching gowns of blue gingham and blue hats. They carried baskets of daisies and assorted garden flowers.

Bruce Anderson of Portsmouth, N.H., was best man for his brother, and ushers were Clifford Goddard of Andover; Scott Estes of Chatham, N.J.; Skip Eiserman of Reading and Robert Hatem of Lawrence.

The new Mrs. Anderson, a graduate of Springfield College, teaches physical education at Phillips Academy. Her husband, a graduate of Mount Hermon Prep School, Colgate University, and Salem State College with a master's degree in school administration, will teach English at East Junior High, Andover.

Following a wedding trip to Nantucket, the couple is at home at Pemberton Cottage, Phillips Academy.

September Wedding

Dinner

Ann E. McGoff

Mr. and Mrs. James McGoff of Appletree Lane in Andover, announce the marriage intentions of their daughter, Ann Elizabeth, to Jerry Walls, son of Mrs. and Mrs. Harry Walls of Contoocook, New Hampshire.

Miss Hopley In Research Project

THE TOWNSMAN, AUGUST 29, 1974

Laura E. Hopley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hopley of Andover, spent part of the summer studying the small group of oystercatchers which nest in Chappaquiddick Island's Cape Poge Wildlife Refuge. She was one of ten Windham College students who participated in animal behavior research under the guidance of Dr. Kenneth Ellis, professor of psychology at Windham.

Miss Hopley observed territorial disputes between pairs of oystercatchers and watched parent birds teaching their young how to feed along the rocky shores of the Cape Poge elbow. She was also able to get some idea of the territorial range of these birds.

Other student research projects included studies of courtship behavior in common and roseate terns, parent-young relationships in herring gulls, chemical communication among horseshoe crabs and vocalizations in herring gulls. Says Prof. Ellis of the program, "The course forces students to become actively involved in the process of field research. In some cases their work has produced data that is valuable to our understanding of behavior and has aided decisions concerning wildlife management." This is the third year that Windham students and instructors have conducted animal behavior research on Chappaquiddick Island. Another trip to the island is scheduled for next year.

Mrs. John Ratichek

Ratichek - Stewart

Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Stewart of Keene, N.H., formerly of Andover, have announced the August 11 marriage of their daughter, Ellen Theresa, to John Anthony Ratichek of Denver, Colo.

introduce them to a variety of the Museum's live animals, and treat them to juice and cookies. The youngsters go away knowing that a museum doesn't have to be a musty, dreary place, and the Junior Volunteers go home, assured that they have broadened their own experience as well as that of their young charges.

Another area in which the Junior Volunteers are especially valuable is in the Museum Shop. Here, they become acquainted with selling the stock control procedures as they learn to deal with customers.

Chosen on the basis of their enthusiasm and commitment, Junior Volunteers may show particular abilities that lend themselves to specific responsibilities in other areas of Museum work. A number of Junior Volunteers, for example, are trained to give presentations of the Museum's Transparent Woman.

During the school year, Junior Volunteers restrict their activities to after school and weekend hours. Young people who are interested in joining this program should contact the Volunteer Office at the Museum.

The Rev. Harold Tallman performed the 2 o'clock ceremony at the Russell Sage Chapel, Northfield, Mass.

A reception followed on the front porch of the Northfield Inn. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of off-white linen, with cutwork and lace edging the neck, short sleeves, and hem ruffle of the floor-length dress. Her floor-length veil was trimmed with the same cutwork and lace, and she carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Martha Alden of Amherst served as maid of honor, wearing a long gown of floral print on pink, and carrying white daisies.

Douglas M. Hicks, of Elmira, N.Y., the groom's brother-in-law, was his best man and ushers were David B. Lee of New York City, and the bride's brothers Robert, M. Stewart, Jr., of Ithaca, N.Y., and Kenneth A. Stewart and James A. Stewart of Keene.

Mrs. Stewart chose a floor-length dress of blue lace for her daughter's wedding, while the groom's mother wore a pink costume.

The new Mrs. Ratichek received her bachelor's degree from Cornell University, and a master's degree in education from the University of Massachusetts. Her husband, who received his B.A. from Amherst College, received his M.B.A. from Harvard University.

After a honeymoon trip to the Maine Coast, the couple is at home in Amherst.

Mara Meir

To Begin School Of Ballet

Mara Meir, first Prima Ballerina of Israel, and now a resident of Lynnfield, in private life Mrs. Ralph Noveletsky, has recently announced the opening of the Andover School of Ballet with classes to begin Sept. 23.

Born in Israel to parents interested in the fine arts, Miss Meir began taking ballet lessons at age seven from the only ballet teacher then in Israel, a former Ballerina of the "Ballet Russe de Monte-Carlo."

During the War of Independence years, Miss Meir served in the military with the other Israeli women and girls, performing her duties as soldier during the fighting period, as well as dancing (entertaining) for the soldiers during the numerous cease fires. After the war, she joined the newly-formed Israeli Opera, becoming its first Prima Ballerina.

In 1961, Miss Meir moved to Paris, France, dancing and studying for ten years under the renowned dancer Olga Preobrajenska, a former Ballerina of the Imperial Russian Ballet. Among Miss Meir's classmates were great dancers of world acclaim, including Margot Fonteyn, Yvette Chauvire, Rossella Hightower, and Leslie Caron.

Returning to Israel in 1961, Miss Meir opening her own School of Ballet.

Miss Meir arrived in the United States in 1964 to visit and to learn about the physical fitness programs that would be of special interest to both her classes and to Israel. Instead, she stayed, became a citizen, and in 1966 founded the Marblehead School of Classical Ballet which she ran for five years.

Silent Films At Castle

Another evening of silent films at the Hammond Castle will be held on Saturday, Sept. 14, with a showing of Lon Chaney in The Hunchback of Notre Dame. The million and a half dollar production which made Lon Chaney a top ranking star was released by Universal Pictures in 1923. Chaney's performance as the unfortunate Quasimodo is a masterpiece of acting which ranks as one of the great portrayals in all of motion picture literature.

High and Dizzy with Harold Lloyd and Mildred Davis was produced and directed by Hal Roach. It was not until 1917 that Lloyd created his own individual character - the bemused and bespectacled mama's boy who always turns into a man before the end. This is one of his greatest comedies.

Accompanying the films will be Al Winslow, well-known organist, playing the 14,000 great pipe organ of the Hammond Castle.

For tickets for the Saturday,

Sept. 14, 8 o'clock performance, make reservations early by telephone to the Hammond Castle box office.

Earnings Same

New England Electric System reports earnings for the month of July 1974 of 13 cents per share, the same as July 1973, when 1-250,000 fewer shares were outstanding. Consolidated net income for the first seven months of 1974 totaled $18,515,000, equal to $1.09 per share compared to $23,591,000 and $1.50 per share last year.

Merrimack College's Division of Continuing Education is adding Foundations of the Visual Arts, Principles of Accounting and Contemporary Man to the list of things that you can buy with a credit card.

These courses are just a few of the fifty-nine courses offered by the Merrimack College Division of Continuing Education during the Fall, 1974 Semester which can be financed by area residents through Master Charge in cooperation with the Arlington Trust Company.

"This innovation in tuition financing has advantages both for the students and the college," said Merrimack College Dean of Continuing Education, Dr.
Richard A. Kaplowitz of Andover. "Continuing Education students will now be able to pay for their studies on a time schedule they choose themselves. We at the College can offer students as adaptable deferred payment plan while focusing our attention on academic rather than financial matters."

"Part-time students on the whole are massively discriminated against in federal and state student and institutional aid programs," quoted Merrimack Dean Dr. Richard A. Kaplowitz from the Report of the Committee on the Financing of Higher Education for Adult students' report to the American Council on Education. He pointed out that the Committee Report, 118 pages long, thoroughly documented the fact that the adult, part-time student is generally not eligible for financial aid, and stated that "the use of credit cards will at least provide the adult with some greater flexibility in arranging financing for continuing higher education."

To facilitate registration and offer individual counseling, Dr.
Kaplowitz' office will arrange individual appointments both during the day or evening before
Sept. 3 for interested students.
Students are offered the opportunity to register for college courses in person or by mail before the September on-campus registration dates. On-campus registration for the Fall, 1974 Semester will be held on Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 4 and 5

Earnings Sales Up At H-P

Hewlett-Packard Company has reported a 42 per cent increase in sales and a 118 per cent increase in earnings for the third quarter of the Company's fiscal year.

Sales for the third quarter ended July 31 totaled $233,582,000 compared with $164,079,000 for the corresponding quarter of fiscal 1973. Net earnings amounted to $22,995,000, equal to 84 cents per share on 27,121,886 shares of common stock outstanding. This compares with earnings of $10,550,000, equal to 39 cents per share on 26,748,225 shares during last year's third quarter.

William R. Hewlett, Hewlett-Packard President, said the Company's incoming orders for the quarter amounted to $246,798,000, a gain of 24 per cent over orders of $198,690,000 booked in the corresponding period of 1973. For the nine month period ended July 31, orders totaled $689,756,000, up 30 per cent from a year ago.

"International markets have been particularly strong," he said, "with orders from foreign customers amounting to $323,373,000 for the nine-month period. This represents a gain of 46 per cent over the corresponding period of 1973. Domestic orders for the same period have risen 19 per cent to $366,383,000."

Sales for the nine months amounted to $639,173,000, a 41 per cent increase over the corresponding period of 1973. Net earnings rose 72 per cent to $47,992,000, equal to $2.14 a share. This compares with earnings of $33,804,000, equal to $1.26 a share.

Power Co. Claims Oil Overcharge

New England Power Company (NEPCO) filed a law suit in the U.S. District Court, Boston, against Coastal States Marketing, Inc. late yesterday.

It alleged that Coastal States overcharged NEPCO for a cargo of residual fuel oil delivered to its Salem Harbor Generating Station in January, 1974. At a price of $23.75 per barrel, the 127,479-barrel shipment exceeded a total cost of over $3 million.

NEPCO has asked the Court that it be awarded triple the amount of overcharge, plus reasonable attorneys' fees and costs. In commenting on the suit, John R. Stevens, Vice-President of New England Power Company, said, "When this oil was purchased, the Company's primary concern was maintaining continuity of electric service. Residual fuel oil was in very short supply and, in fact, this shipment was arranged for the company by the Federal Energy Agency (FEA). At the time our average price was about $12.00 per barrel. Immediately after the purchase, we requested the Internal Revenue Service to investigate this price and, to date, we have not been notified of their conclusions." Stevens added, "Money received as a result of this suit will be returned to the customers through the fuel clause and will not be used for Company profits."

The suit alleges that Coastal States was in violation of the Economic Stabilization Act of 1970 and its applicable price regulations. NEPCO claims that Coastal States exceeded the maximum price authorized by the price regulations.

New England Power Company is the wholesale generating subsidiary of New England Electric System and an affiliate of NEES' retail subsidiaries, Mass. Electric Company, Narragansett Electric Company, and Granite State Electric Company.
